The Mossburn Vintage Casks range are a collection of Single Malt Scotch Whiskies each issuing from a strictly limited and select batch of casks. Each numbered release will only ever yield a finite number of bottles. While this means that we can never replicate the particular character of this Single Malt, it also offers an opportunity to sample what we believe to be an exceptional example of the whisky made by one of Scotland's most distinguished distilleries.

Tasting notes

Flooding, fires and frequent bankruptcies coloured the Benrinnes Distillery's early history and even today it doesn't present the most welcoming of facias. There are six stills and the spirit is run through worm tub condensers. After 10 years this spirit is still light in colour, but with a weighty and slightly malty nose which gradually releases sweet vanilla and honeyed cereal notes. The oak influence is gentle initially on the palate but later adds layers of structure before a weighty finish hinting of smoke.
